

Chill Draws Near For Gas Users

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Public utilities are warning businesses across the country that they may not get natural gas for heating this winter. Some utilities are refusing to accept new customers, industrial or residential.

An Associated Press survey showed there is a shortage of natural gas in almost every area, with the East Coast apparently facing the most severe problem. Natural gas provides 31 per cent of the energy used in the country.

Spokesmen for the utilities and some state officials blame the Federal Power Commission for the shortage. They say the FPC ceiling price for natural gas is too low and discourages exploration. "The companies need more money to explore and get additional gas," said George I. Bloom, chairman of the Pennsylvania Public Utilities Commission.

Other officials note that as fuel oil became more expensive, many people switched to natural gas, boosting the demand over a short period of time without development of new supplies.

Last June, the FPC revised its pricing system for natural gas, replacing a series of regional limits with a single national price of 42 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for so-called "new" gas from wells that began operation after Jan. 1, 1973. Previously, the price ranged from 19.9 to 34 cents per 1,000 cubic feet and averaged 27 cents, the commission said.

The government action was expected to mean another boost in prices for consumers who already are paying more than last year. A spokesman for Minnesota Gas Co. said, for example, that rates for residential customers are 12 to 14 per cent higher than last year and industrial customers are paying 30 per cent more than they did in 1973.

The shortage will hit hardest at "interruptible" customers — large industrial users whose contracts call for them to be cut off in times of trouble. These customers make arrangements for alternate sources of energy like heating oil. Cold weather frequently has meant cutoffs for the "interruptibles" in the past and officials say the situation will be worse this year.

Most utilities said residential customers and high-priority users like hospitals and schools would not be affected by the shortage. But some companies are trying to discourage new customers.

Ohio industries will bear the brunt of a natural gas shortage this winter, as major state gas companies prepare for winter cutbacks of up to 20 per cent, a survey of several firms has shown.

Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., serving 988,541 customers in Ohio, has announced a five-month 20 per cent cutback beginning Nov. 1 for industrial customers.

Earl Loucks, company spokesman, blames the problem on the federal government, saying prices set by the Federal Power Commission at the natural gas well heads have been too low to attract the necessary capital to drill new sources.

Loucks said residential customers shouldn't feel the effects of the shortage, as they are the last to be cut.

Dayton Power & Light Co. says it will get 14 per cent less natural gas from its wholesale supplier, Columbia Gas Transmission Corp.

Dal Foreman, public information spokesman for DP&L, said the firm is receiving some synthetic gas from a plant near Fremont, but the additional supply won't make up for the cut. He said some industrial shortages will probably result.

The amount industries will be asked to trim depends on the firm's new allotment which begins Oct. 20, Foreman added.

Dayton Power serves 268,000 customers in nine counties in west central Ohio.

Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. predicts a 60 to 100-day winter curtailment period beginning Nov. 1. The firm says only special contract and industrial customers will be affected, and it has alerted them to begin the search for alternate fuels.

Cincinnati Gas serves 370,000 gas customers in northern Kentucky, southeastern Indiana and the Cincinnati area.

East Ohio Gas Co., on the other hand, anticipates no problem this winter with natural gas supplies, if pipe line curtailments don't exceed those presently forecast.

The company's storage of gas is at an alltime high, and the only other factor which could seriously alter the situation is a severe winter, the spokesman said. The firm serves northeast Ohio.

Columbia Gas Transmission Corp. is the wholesale natural gas supplier for firms in seven states including Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, Maryland, New York, Pennsylvania and Virginia. In Ohio, Columbia Gas Transmission supplies Columbia Gas, DP&L, and Cincinnati Gas.

Mrs. Ford's Ordeal Helps Others

WASHINGTON (AP) — Betty Ford's sudden ordeal with cancer has touched off a sympathetic reaction among women across the country and an awakening to the dangers they also face.

Ten thousand letters, more than 500 phone calls, over 200 telegrams and scores of flower arrangements have poured into the White House and Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital since word came of Mrs. Ford's breast cancer operation Saturday.

Mrs. Ford was reported continuing to make a good recovery. A medical bulletin said she is on a regular diet and had gained almost full mobility of her right arm.

A spokesman for the American Cancer Society said telephones "have been ringing off the hook" with calls from thousands of women who want to make appointments with doctors and clinics for breast cancer examinations.

"It's a tragedy for Mrs. Ford, but she may have saved an awful lot of women's lives," said a spokesman for the American Cancer Crusade, which long sponsored an educational campaign to alert women to the need for early detection and period check-ups.

The outpouring of prayers, good wishes and hopeful advice from those who have recovered from breast cancer surgery like hers has been dramatic.

In only four days, the volume of mail at the White House appears to have exceeded anything First Ladies in recent years have received. Wives of senators have been helping Mrs. Ford cope with the flood of messages.

After more flowers arrived at the hospital than Mrs. Ford could possibly accommodate in the five-room presidential suite during an expected 10-day stay, President Ford appealed to those who might want to send flowers to contribute instead to the American Cancer Society.

It's still too early yet to tell how the donations to the cancer society will be affected by the appeal, a spokesman said. But even the White House is getting donations, many of them small although there was one check for $5,000.

"One thing is definite, though," the cancer society spokesman noted. "Thousands of women around the country are asking the American Cancer Society, clinics, hospitals and doctors about getting breast examinations. It has galvanized everyone into action."

The letters to Mrs. Ford have come from young and old, people in public life and women who want to encourage her. Some cured cancer patients even

Alice Longworth, 90-year-old daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt, sent this message to Mrs. Ford: "Just a line to wish you well from one who a number of years ago had the experience you just had."

A nun, who is a nurse in Teaneck, N.J., sent a "well, welcome to our club," message, reporting she celebrates her ninth anniversary of a mastectomy this month and has been encouraging others who have had them that they can live a normal life. "Your faith and courage will be a great source of strength to all the women facing this surgery in the future," she wrote.

False Arrests Could Multiply Under New System

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new survey by the General Accounting Office suggests that false arrests could occur more and more often as police around the nation turn to computerized crime files.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., who already has introduced legislation to limit the use of criminal records, is drafting still another restriction to prevent such occurrences.

"Obviously," Ervin said recently, "a suspect with his hands against the patrol car ... will not be able to convince that officer that an arrest record ... is inaccurate or incomplete and that he was exonerated for the arrest and should not be arrested."

In a statement entered in the Congressional Records, Ervin warned that increasing computerization of criminal records, known as rap sheets, "could enormously magnify the risk of false arrest because of instantaneous use of incomplete or inaccurate or irrelevant past arrest information."

The GAO study, commissioned by Ervin's constitutional rights subcommittee, noted the bulk of police requests for criminal records from the FBI and from state files still are handled manually.

It often takes as long as two weeks for the replies to be delivered by mail or teletype.

Consequently, "criminal history information was used primarily after an individual was arrested," said GAO investigators.

The data showed that records obtained from manual files were used prior to an arrest in fewer than 10 per cent of the cases surveyed.

But when the requests were channeled through the computerized criminal history system maintained by the FBI, the records were used before arrest in almost one-third of the cases.

"It is reasonable to conclude that computerization of rap sheets would mean that such information would become available for making arrests," Ervin said.

The GAO study lent support to complaints that rap sheets often list arrests without reporting whether the individual was convicted or acquitted.

Officials of the three states involved in the survey — Florida, Massachusetts and California — "told us that lack of disposition data or the existence of inaccurate disposition data are serious problems," GAO investigators said.

California officials "found inaccuracies in disposition data in 100 per cent of the sampled records of some courts," the report said. Ervin called that appalling.

He said the subcommittee staff is drafting amendments which would block criminal justice agencies from routinely obtaining rap sheets before an arrest.

School Bus Costs Zoom

CHICAGO (AP) — Safety requirements for next year's school buses may push price tags beyond the reach of many school districts, industry and safety officials say.

Some school districts already are feeling the pinch of price hikes of 25 per cent or more in the last year, said Edward T. Clayton of Blue Bird Body Co. of Fort Valley, Ga. The firm is one of six major school bus producers.

Much of the increase in prices is due to higher raw material costs. But officials who gathered for a National Safety Congress meeting in Chicago said Wednesday they expect additional hikes to result from safety advances such as padded seat backs and guard railings.

Exact costs have not been tabulated, they said. A 66-passenger bus now costs from $14,000 to $16,000, depending on safety specifications in a given state, Clayton said.

Clayton predicted that continued cost hikes would mean "schools in some states will be operating 10-year-old buses."

Robert B. Kurre, an engineer for the Wayne Transportation Co. of Richmond, Ind., said in a telephone interview that it's too early to measure the sales impact of price increases.

He said most school districts submit orders early in the calendar year for fall delivery. A spokesman for the School Bus Manufacturers' Institute in Washington, D.C., agreed.

James Tidings, chief engineer for Thomas Built Buses Inc. of High Point, N.C., said from 12 to 25 school bus passengers die annually. Government figures put the annual death toll at 25 to 35, with some 5,000 injuries.

One major change proposed by the government would require foam padding on top, back and sides of seats on next year's models.

"Seat design has completely changed in the last two or three years," Clayton said during a panel discussion on school bus safety. Some states already require seat back and guard rail padding and some manufacturers have made them standard equipment.

Government Plans For Coal Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government is preparing contingency plans to divert some coal supplies from electric utilities and to embargo coal exports in the event of a miners' strike next month.

These are among several measures outlined in a memo from the Federal Energy Administration to the Interior Department. A copy was obtained by The Associated Press.

The planning considers requiring electric utility companies to sell up to 40 per cent of their new coal deliveries to other industries, possibly under federal allocation and price control.

A government official involved in the planning said the moves under consideration would be unlikely to result in power brownouts or blackouts or electrical rate increases. The moves are designed to preserve jobs and to prevent production cutbacks in other industries, the official said.

The FEA also is considering seeking legislative authority to slap an excise tax on electricity "as a standby in case of an urgent need to reduce demand significantly," and to require industry to cut back production and public services.

No details were mentioned but presumably the steps would not be taken unless a strike, if it occurred, lasted several weeks.

Contract talks in the soft-coal industry began a month ago and negotiators for the United Mine Workers and the coal companies have until Nov. 12 to reach agreement before the current pact expires.

Energy experts estimate a fully effective coal strike would deny the nation three times as much energy on a daily basis as the oil embargo did last winter.

The tentative plans for coping with a possible coal strike still are being worked out by FEA Asst. Administrator Eric Zausner and others. In discussing the merits of a coal allocation program, the FEA memo noted that such a program would subject the government "to political criticism because it dampens the effect of the strike."

Government officials were reluctant to discuss the planning in part because of what they said could be the appearance of interfering in the negotiations.

A spokesman for UMW President Arnold Miller called the contingency planning counterproductive and said they "might wind up prolonging a strike if a strike takes place."

In its planning, the FEA estimates even if a strike tied up 80 per cent of the nation's coal production, nonsteel industrial shortages could be made up by diverting about a third of new coal deliveries that would still be going to utilities.

Wilson Says Tapes Destructive

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson says former President Richard M. Nixon "destroyed himself by his devotion to the muse of history."

Wilson said Wednesday in a broadcast interview with David Frost that Nixon wanted the White House tapes to ensure his place in history.

"He wanted to have everything recorded that he did, for the sake of history, for the historians," Wilson said. "It might not be published for 100 years and those tapes have ensured for him a place in history the very opposite of what he would have wished."

THE urge to produce in these times of upward spiraling prices is even spreading to Mother Nature ... William H. Strawser, 727 E. Mound St., reports an apple tree in his yard is blooming ... Frosty weather will put an end to the tree's maternal instincts, no doubt.

OHIO Sixth District Congressman William H. Harsha today issued a statement that he is "unalterably opposed to any increase in gasoline tax" ...

"You don't stop inflation by raising the cost of living for those least able to afford it," Harsha said. "The administration's proposal is counter productive, costly, leads to more bureaucracy and would create utter chaos."

ALMOST LUNKERS—Division of Wildlife personnel Eric Angle and Steve Fisher release part of a load of 1,460 yearling bass into A.W. Marion State Park lake Wednesday. The fish, cultivated in the DNR facility at London, measured six to 10 inches in length and all are large-mouth bass. Angle hopes the fish will grow to 12 to 14 inches by May, just in time for spring fishing. Many of the bass were tagged to allow personnel to chart their growth and activity. The DNR picked the local lake because of a history of poor reproduction habits of bass here.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market fell sharply today under the weight of inflation worries and discouragement over the recent performance of stocks themselves.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 10.48 at 591.05, and losers outpaced gainers by close to 2-to-1 in light trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow, which had rebounded after a brief pass below 600 Tuesday, showed little sign of resistance as it sank below it again today. The average last closed below that psychological milestone on Nov. 1, 1962.

Westinghouse Electric was the Big Board volume leader, down 1/2 at 9 3/4. A 249,900-share block traded at 9 3/4.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was off .40 at 61.61.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks dropped .44 to 33.00.

Ohio's Clean Air Efforts Bog Down

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's efforts to scrub its air even cleaner than the federal government demands have bogged down in a legal morass that could delay action until 1979.

That is the deadline for limiting industrial smoke to 80 micrograms of sulfur oxide per cubic meter of air recommended by three hearing examiners.

The state once wanted pollution cut to 60 micrograms with a 1975 deadline.

"We've got the worst sulfur oxide problem in the nation," said Noreen Wills, a spokeswoman for the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency. "More than 90 per cent of the energy generated in Ohio comes from burning coal, mostly high sulfur coal."

Since 1972 Ohio has been a leader among states seeking cleaner air, she said.

"No other state has held an adjudication hearing such as the examiners conducted here," said Miss Wills.

Heavy industry and electric utilities won over the examiners by arguing that the equipment needed to clean up the air to 60 micrograms would cost $2 billion and that it had not been proved successful.

In a 400-page report, the examiners — all EPA staff members — also suggested that industries use taller smoke stacks and temporary pollution controls during periods of stagnant air, another swing to industry.

The EPA contended these methods advocated by power companies would spread pollution over a wider area.

Thirteen electric utility firms filed briefs on the examiners' report, which the American Electric Power System called in a Wall Street Journal advertisement a "requiem for scrubbers."

House Votes To Slash Nixon Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has overwhelmingly voted to slash former President Richard M. Nixon's expense money to $200,000 but rejected an effort to cut off even his pension as repudiation for Watergate.

Senate action is still required on the measure.

President Ford originally asked $850,000 for Nixon. The House also acted to hold Nixon's White House tapes and papers in Washington until Congress acts on proposals to make them public property.

Cutoff of Nixon's $55,000 pension was proposed by Rep. Jerome R. Waldie, D-Calif., who said that would be the House's last chance to register its verdict that Nixon's "service was not honorable, not deserving of reward."

But Waldie's effort was rejected 344 to 46 after Rep. Howard W. Robison, R-N.Y., appealed to the House to "end this vengeful spirit."

In a compromise between nothing and the $398,000 approved in committee, the House chopped off another $198,000.

The action was an $8.4 billion supplemental appropriations bill that appears headed for President Ford's veto because the House boosted it $384 million above his budget.

The bill was approved 317 to 72.

Reinecke Gets Suspended Term

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Former Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke is back in California, describing himself as "ruined politically and financially."

Reinecke resigned Wednesday on his 2,078th day in office just minutes before he received an 18-month suspended sentence in Washington for perjury in the ITT affair.

As a convicted felon, he could no longer hold state office.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, who appointed Reinecke to the job in 1969, planned to fill the vacancy today.

As recently as April, the 50-year-old Reinecke was considered the front-runner for the Republican nomination to succeed Reagan.

But after the perjury indictment was returned by a Watergate grand jury, Reinecke was swamped in the June 4 primary by Controller Houston I. Flournoy.

Reinecke maintains he is innocent and says he plans to write a book entitled, "So Help Me God." He said he would appeal the conviction.

Reinecke has put his suburban Sacramento home up for sale and has been living with his family on his ranch near Placerville in the Sierra foothills east of Sacramento.

The advertisement quotes the examiners as calling scrubbers "undeveloped, unreliable and unacceptable for electric utility use."

American Electric owns seven Midwest power companies, including the Ohio Power Co., and is in the process of buying another Ohio power firm. That acquisition would give American Electric control of electricity in much of central, southern and eastern Ohio.

Analysts are scheduled to give Dr. Ira Whitman, EPA director, their recommendations by year's end. If Whitman denies the recommended delay, his decision can be appealed to the Ohio Environmental Board of Review.

The power companies gained a new supporter in Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, an earlier advocate of strict pollution controls, as a result of the examiners' report.

Brown filed a brief with Whitman saying the report contained no evidence that current pollution levels represented a health hazard.

Previously his office held that air pollution represented a serious health problem.

Brown told Whitman he felt scrubbers would work but "the costs of such systems would ultimately have to be borne by the consumers of electric power in Ohio."

"There is simply no justification for those consumers to pay the costs of such systems to protect themselves from a remote and speculative health hazard," Brown's brief said.

Foreign Aid Bill Shelved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has shelved a $2.5-billion foreign aid bill, but only after voting to bring CIA covert operations under close congressional scrutiny.

A 41-39 vote returned the authorization bill to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee at least until after the November elections. Its ultimate fate remained uncertain.

The Senate had loaded down the bill with ceilings, limitations and restrictions opposed by President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. Included were military aid cutoffs for Turkey and Chile, and reductions in food aid and fertilizer shipments to South Vietnam.

In the end, 24 Republicans and 17 Democrats supported the motion of Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., to recommit the bill. Seven Republicans and 32 Democrats voted against it.

Returned to committee along with the bill was an amendment to require the president to report to Congress before spending any money for covert operations by the CIA or any other government agency, except for the sole purpose of obtaining information.

Supplemental Money Paid Area Schools

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson's office announced the distribution of $215,282. to the four school districts in Pickaway County and to the Pickaway County Board of Education. The money was a portion of the $45,509,773.60 distributed to the state's 613 school districts as provided by the supplemental appropriations bill which became effective July 27.

Of the money appropriated to Pickaway County, $36,933.40 was distributed to the Logan Elm Local School District; $58,013.40 to Teays Valley; $38,256.80 to Westfall; $64,708.40 to Circleville City School District. A direct allotment of $7,370 was made to the county board of education.

At the same time the above allocations were made, the auditor's office announced the distribution of an additional $399,075 to Ohio's 32 joint vocational school districts.

Auditor Ferguson noted that the payments were sent directly to the districts instead of to the county auditors as are the regular State School Foundation subsidy payments.

Eastern Half Of Nation In Icebox

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The eastern half of the nation shivered under a record-breaking blanket of early cold and snow today.

Milwaukee, Wis., set an Oct. 3 record with a low predawn temperature of 27 degrees. New lows for the date also were recorded in Indianapolis, Ind.; Buffalo, N.Y., and Birmingham, Ala.

An Oct. 3, 1886, low of 32 degrees was surpassed in Chicago, marking the third straight day of record low temperatures there.

Pittsburgh, Pa., had its earliest snowfall in a century along with record cold for the date.

Oct. 2 cold records were broken Wednesday in Charleston, W.Va.; Binghamton, N.Y.; Grand Rapids, Mich., and South Bend, Ind.

Thundershowers that dumped an inch of rain on Bakersfield, Calif., Wednesday, moved eastward.

An inch of snow whitened Syracuse, N.Y., and there were scattered snowfalls in the lower Great Lakes region, the upper Ohio Valley and the northern Appalachians.

The northern corners of both coasts were cloudy.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 22 at Bradford, Pa., to 89 at Needles, Calif.

Swedish Authors Win Nobel Prize For Literature

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Swedish authors Eyvind Johnson, 74, and Harry Martinson, 70, were awarded the 1974 Nobel Prize for Literature today.

Johnson is most famous for his "Krilon" trilogy written during World War II as an outspoken anti-Nazi protest.

Martinson is a former seaman who enriched the Swedish language with his poems, novels and essays.

The 18-member Swedish Academy, making the formal announcement after a one hour final meeting, cited Johnson "for a narrative art, farseeing in lands and ages, in the service of freedom."

Martinson was cited "for writings that catch the dewdrop and reflect the cosmos."

The prize this year is worth about $124,000.

College Job Placement

College placement offices are not the busy places they once were. Industrial and business recruiters are not showing up to interview prospective employees in former numbers.

As to why the change, a fictitious interview might provide part of the answer. After listening to a top student expound on his academic standing and achievements, a recruiter might ask, "yes, but what can you do?"

Placement offices are well aware of the problem and on a number of campuses the emphasis is shifting. More subjects are now offered which are designed to make it easier for a student to land a job.

Counseling and guidance services are changing also, toward earlier self-analysis by the student on his life goals and more aggressively helping him to achieve those goals.

Some of these changes have been slow in coming. As a result, some potential students have been turned off by college altogether and others have adopted various means to make themselves more valuable for prospective employment in addition to college training.

Many liberal arts graduates have found themselves in difficulty after graduation. Some have accepted jobs which do not require a college degree. Accounting and engineering are two exceptions to the general rule—recruiters still actively seek qualified persons in those fields.

Periodic economic difficulties always will provide some problems for college graduates, but the changing emphasis on assistance while on campus should provide additional job placements.

Today In History

Today is Thursday, Oct. 3, the 276th day of 1974. There are 89 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1952, the British exploded their first atomic bomb, in a test off the coast of Australia.

On this date —

In 1954, a nine-power conference in London agreed that West Germany should enter the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Ten years ago: Hurricane Hilda left more than 30 persons dead as it roared across a nearly deserted coastal area west of New Orleans.

Five years ago: The threat of a strike against major U.S. railroads was averted for 60 days as President Nixon set up an emergency fact-finding board.

One year ago: Willi Stoph was replaced by Horst Sindermann as premier of East Germany. Stoph became chairman of the council of state.

Rocky Going For Rocky

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—The best break Nelson Rockefeller received during his tough questioning before the Senate Rules Committee, regarding his qualifications to be named Vice President, Was Angela Davis' testimony against him.

Rocky can't be all bad, if Angela doesn't like him.

If you feel a compulsion to commit a crime, take the next plane to Florida. The state has had to apologize that it hasn't any more room in its prisons.

Since the origin of the World Series at the turning of the century, relatives, friends and even casual acquaintances of baseball writers have been writing letters that go something like this:

"Dear Gus:

"Well, it's World Series time again, right? Hope you're not going to be the louse you were last year when I said I'd take four tickets off your hands, provided they were seats between first and third and didn't have pillars in front of them. You said then that you didn't have any tickets, which everybody knows was a lie. Everybody knows the owners drop bundles of them in your lap every year so you'll keep writing nice things about the team. So I need six this year, same positions. Yours in sport. Moose."

Jack Lang, Secretary-Treasurer of the Baseball Writers Association of America (BBWAA) writes the membership as follows:

"We receive tickets for approximately one quarter of the membership and these are allotted strictly for baseball writers who travel with major league clubs. One exception is that writers whose teams may be involved in the Series are not entitled to tickets for games in their city."

"Example: Oakland writers may not purchase tickets for the Oakland end of the Series should Oakland be the American League representative. They may, however, purchase tickets for Boston if Boston is in the Series. . . The limit is two tickets to each game. Tickets must be purchased in strips. No individual game tickets may be purchased. . . Because of the expense involved to the BBWAA in setting up a ticket room in each city for ticket distribution, a service charge of 50 cents per ticket has been levied. . ."

So, Moose, face the truth. We're just characters in the fifth verse of the Whiffenpoof Song:

We're poor shorn lambs
Who have lost our pay

The highway departments of 23 states have applied to the U.S.

Department of Transportation for permission to use already allocated Federal highway grants to fund $24,100,275 of bikeway and walkway trails.

Alabama, Alaska, Arizona and Arkansas couldn't care less, but California would like to set aside $2,000,000 for the enjoyment and safety of its cyclists, and so would Florida, Maryland, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania.

The District of Columbia has asked to re-allocate $410,000 presumably to buy Chief Justice Warren Burger a three-wheeler. New York's $2,000,000 could well be spent building a network of armed pill-boxes and a 24 hour-helicopter patrol to protect cyclists in Central Park.

Meanwhile, the biggest news in cycling since the invention of the trouser cuff clip is the growing expectation that by 1976 there will be a 3,500 mile bike trail reaching all the way across America. That may astound the shade of Founding Father Thomas Jefferson, who bought up about half that land for a little more than half as much money as the states are now asking for bike paths.

Since his death, we've seen several "Hollywood Squares" TV shows which have featured Cliff Arquette — Charlie Weaver. One wonders when NBC will get around to mentioning that this delightfully impish old gaffer has gone to that Big Nineteen Inch Diagonal in the Sky? It seems a bit obscene to see him in his flat hat and dime-store specs now that he's dead. Like laughing at a funeral.

His passing divides in half the last articulate students of American history on TV. Only Alistair Cooke survives.

College Builds Up General Medicine

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The University of Cincinnati College of Medicine isn't promising an end to the shortage of family doctors but it's making a start.

"Historically," said Dr. Robert S. Daniels, interim dean of the college, "our graduates have gone on to become specialists."

Nationally, through the 1940s and 1950s, he said, a shortage developed in the number of doctors practicing general medicine.

"Actually," said Daniels, a psychiatrist, "it's not a question of the number of doctors, but rather the areas where they are practicing."

A bill passed by the Ohio Legislature last July mandates that Ohio's four medical schools provide training for general practitioners by this October.

Cincinnati officials said they were prepared for the move, and will provide some training for all medical students to deal with family problems. The programs are now incorporated in a department created Tuesday by the university's board of directors.

Daniels said the state will provide $250,000 annually for the program, which he said would cost the school about $1 million annually.

At the same time the university has moved the medical school into a new building, increasing the size of each class from 120 to 192.

"About 15 per cent of the senior class last year went into family practice," said Daniels.

He said the new program "will make us more attractive to people who are interested in this field. Of course we have no shortage of applicants. We have 6,000 for the 192 places."

The application figures might be misleading, he said, noting the nation's more than 100 medical schools are now able to place one out of every 3.2 applicants.

"What happens is each prospective student applies to nine or 10 different schools," Daniels said.

Daniels said he is looking with some interest to the prospect of involving general practitioners with the academic program.

Medical students will actually interne with physicians in their offices.

Manhole Bandits Sought

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland police and Utilities Department agents are conducting a massive manhole cover hunt.

Detectives are scouring the city's scrap yards today looking for some of the 23 manhole covers that have vanished from the streets in the past three days.

Wednesday, officers were out hunting the manhole bandit. Police said no covers were found, but a 23-year-old youth with a heavy hook in his car was brought in for questioning.

Police say 200 of the heavy, iron covers disappeared last year, and the same number have been taken already this year.

The city says the covers cost $18.35 apiece. When sold for scrap they bring only four bucks each.

City councilmen considered the problem serious enough last spring to adopt an ordinance making unlawful possession of a manhole cover punishable by a six-month jail sentence or a $500 fine.

That ordinance was passed following the death of a 4-year-old girl who fell into an open manhole at a playground.

Junk Car Ordinance Sought In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati City Council has called for an ordinance to force junked cars on private property to be housed or removed at the request of Cincinnati Councilwoman Helen Hinckley.

"The number of junk and or abandoned automobiles parked in public view appears to be increasing, particularly in residential areas," said Mrs. Hinckley.

"It is time the city took steps to eliminate this type of visual pollution," she said.

Price Support Interest Hiked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has boosted interest rates charged farmers for price support loans and for loans extended to build grain storage and drying facilities.

Officials said Tuesday the interest charged for price support loans will be 9 1/2 per cent on an annual basis, up from 7 1/4 per cent. The new rate was effective Oct. 1 for new loan applications received on or after that date.

Loans offered by the department's Commodity Credit Corporation to help farmers install storage and drying facilities were increased, effective Tuesday, to 9 1/2 per cent from 8 3/4 previously.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Can you explain the difference between nearsightedness and farsightedness?

Miss D.L.K., N.J.

Dear Miss K.:

I'll try, but first I want to emphasize that the mechanism by which we see reflects the perfection of one of the great wonders of the body.

Rays of light enter the eye from all directions. As they pass through the opening of the lens an image is formed on the retina. The retina is a highly sensitive inner lining of the back of the eyeball.

When these light waves land on the retina they are converted into electrical waves and carried to the brain. Here, by experience, the person recognizes the image and learns to differentiate between a house, a human, an animal, or any of the myriad images we see daily.

Nearsightedness, or myopia, results when the eyeball becomes less round and more oval. Now the light rays strike in front of the retina rather than directly on it. This causes disturbance of vision.

In nearsightedness, vision is better for near objects than for distant objects.

Farsightedness, or hyperopia, is a condition in which the eyeball is shorter than normal. The result is that the light rays passing through the lens hit beyond the normal retina.

With this disorder, vision is better for distant images than it is for near ones.

Is it always necessary to remove impacted teeth?

MR. H. H., Va.

Dear Mr. H.:

If impacted teeth are a source of infection, or if they impinge on nerves and cause distress, the dentist gives consideration to their removal.

If, however, impacted teeth do not cause any symptoms there seems to be no reason for undertaking the removal of the impacted teeth only because they are there.

When impacted teeth interfere with the growth structure of the jaw or affect the normal bite, dentists, after careful evaluation, may come to the conclusion that they should be removed.

Surgical removal is not a routine decision. Rather it is suggested only after all factors have been thoroughly investigated.

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Home freezers are the hottest selling major appliance in this inflation-wracked year, marketing reports show.

The sales boom is generally attributed to consumers' desires to hedge on rising food costs by buying in quantity. But home economists caution that buying food in bulk is not always the least expensive way to shop.

A study done at Pennsylvania State University showed that the edible portion of a side of beef bought in bulk actually costs 34 cents a pound more than if the same meat were bought separately at supermarket prices.

Still, savings can be made in money and convenience, and homemakers are snapping up freezers at a record rate.

Guenter Baumgart, president of the National Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers, says freezer sales this year are running 26 per cent higher than the record level set in 1973, while appliance buying in general is down 6 per cent this year.

"It's concern over higher food prices," Baumgart said. "People think they can save by buying in quantity."

If the current rate holds, more than 3 million freezers will be sold this year — twice as many as in 1972. Baumgart said this rate of sales growth is unmatched since the post-World War II demand for refrigerators and washing

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

As president of the local branch of the National Assn. of Letter Carriers I think it is about time our postal patrons became aware of a new postal process.

Currently in use the postal service in Circleville has a central mark-up system. This system provides for forwarding locally and otherwise, all mail (for those who have moved to a new address), by one central mark up clerk. In the past carriers were responsible for forwarding all mail in their respective routes. In the past in town forwarding of mail was done on a day-to-day basis, but such is not the case any longer.

This means if you have changed your address but your mail has not been changed, then all mail such as social security checks will be at least one day later.

Our local association wishes to suggest you change your address with all those you have correspondence with immediately upon moving so your mail will not be delayed.

Any question you may have concerning your forwarded mail should be addressed not to your carrier but to your local postmaster.

Respectfully
DAVE THOMPSON

State Residents Get High View

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— They can't watch Ohio State play football, but sightseers will get a view of Ohio Stadium from an observation deck now going up on the top office floor of the new State Office Tower in downtown Columbus.

Daniel Shields, acting director of the Ohio Building Authority, predicted the observation area-in the northeast corner of the 40th floor of the 41-story building-would open next spring.

The observation area is closed to the public now. Construction still is going on, and visitors, if they could get there, would have to wear hardhats while gawking at the scenery 592 feet below.

Shields said most construction will be completed by the end of the year, with the observation area opened to guided tours by March or April.

The observation area, fronted by 7-foot high glass windows, offers an expansive view of north Columbus. Just to the west, the sharp-eyed sports fan gets a partly obstructed view of Ohio Stadium and a clear sighting of St. John's Arena.

"I do want people to come to the top of the building," said Shields. "We can't deny them that."

Taxpayers already have been given a view of the soaring cost of the monolithic brown skyscraper. Its estimated price tag has climbed from $50 million to $76 million and may go still higher.

The observation deck atop the city's second tallest building, the 555-foot LeVeque-Lincoln Tower, closed about eight months ago to provide more office space.

Although the State Office Tower has three fewer stories than the LeVeque-Lincoln building, Shields said storage areas on the sixth and 41st stories each are equivalent to three levels in the older building.

The huge building is about 79 per cent occupied with full occupancy scheduled by Dec. 1.

Only the state auditor on floors 10 and 11, about half the state treasurer's office on 9 and 10, and public welfare allotted 30 through 34 and 37 and 38 remain yet to move in.

Shields has set up shop on the 40th floor, and he is fond of interrupting telephone conversations with the observation, "A helicopter just flew under me. It's kind of unusual to have one go under you."

Baldwin-Pugh Wedding Performed In Kentucky

AIRMAN I.C. AND MRS. PHILIP GARY PUGH

A pearl Bible bracket which had belonged to her great-great-grandmother, was carried by Miss Cindy Lou Baldwin for her marriage to Airman I.C. Philip Gary Pugh. The wedding took place 2 p.m., Sept. 1, in Patterson Memorial Church of Gaston, Ky.

The Rev. George W. Knight Jr., officiated the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jo Baldwin, Route 2, Amanda, and the son of Mrs. Julian Taggart of Amanda, and the late Mr. William Pugh.

Stand baskets with white gladioli, pink, blue and white carnations, baby's breath and fern and large satin bows flanked the altar table along with candelabra. Mrs. Edwina Mills, organist, presented a program of music preceding the ceremony.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a floor length gown of satin flowing softly to a chapel train in the back. Daisy eyelet trim enhanced the high neckline, an inverted pleat down the front of the skirt, formed a yoke, banded with waistline and covered the deep cuffs on the full sleeves. The bride's elbow length veil of illusion was caught to a face framing band of pearl trimmed lace and her cascade bouquet of white carnations, baby's breath and fern was carried atop a Bible on the pearl Bible bracket.

Maid of honor, Miss Linda Stump, wore a floor length gown of powder blue organza flocked with pink and white flowers. The bodice featured a scoop neckline and short puffed sleeves. She carried a single pink carnation with fern and ribbon streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Lydia Brown, Miss Brenda Stump and Miss Rebecca Baldwin, sister of the bride. They were gowned as the honor attendant and carried single carnations with blue streamers.

Airman I.C. Frederick A. Osborn performed the duties of best man. Ushers were Mr. Ernest L. Crawford, Mr. Dave Campbell and Mr. Robert Bourgeau.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. A three tiered cake trimmed in blue and white carried out the color theme. Hostesses were Mrs. Pauline Stapleton, Mrs. Della Koontz and Mrs. Mabel Valentine. Miss Tammy Johnson presided at the guest register.

Following a brief wedding trip the couple now resides at Rantoul, Ill., where the bridegroom is stationed with the U.S. Air Force.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Baldwin, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Manbevers, grandparents of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. David Bozman.

Circles Will Meet At Calvary Church

Officers for 1975 will be elected during a general meeting of Calvary United Methodist Women 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the church annex. Eileen Osborn will be the program leader.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT D. SHUMP

Miss Vicki L. Bond Weds Robert D. Shump

Circleville Church of the Brethren was the setting for the wedding of Miss Vicki L. Bond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel L. Bond, 230 Town St., and Mr. Robert D. Shump, son of Mr. Edwin Shump, Sandusky, and Mrs. Janet Mahony, Albany, N.Y.

The Rev. William C. Morgan officiated the double ring ceremony 2:30 p.m., July 28th, before the altar adorned with an arrangement of pink, yellow, blue and green carnations, white gladioli and daisy mums backed with fern, and flanked with two white rosebuds in each altar vase. White satin bows marked the pews. Mrs. Doyle Cupp, organist, presented a program of nuptial selections preceding the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. For her wedding she selected a formal length gown of white organza. The empire bodice featured a scoop neckline outlined in sequined chantilly lace and sheer full sleeves ending in deep lace cuffs. The A-line skirt dipped to a flounced hemline encircled with lace. The bride's chantilly lace mantilla illusion veil, held by a lace caplet flowed softly to cathedral length. She carried a bouquet centered with a white orchid and surrounded with white sweetheart roses atop a white Bible. Her only jewelry was a heart shaped necklace centered with a diamond, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Richard Kirk, was matron of honor for her sister. She was attired in a formal length printed dotted swiss gown of pale green. Her picture hat matching her gown was made by the bride. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue and green pompon mums.

Master Jeff Valli, a cousin of the bridegroom was ring bearer. He carried a white satin pillow with lace and ribbons holding the rings.

Mr. Steve Zuine served his friend as best man and Mr. Jo Vallie, cousin of the bridegroom, was usher.

The bride's mother wore a peach formal length gown with a short matching jacket. The bridegroom's mother chose a pink formal length gown. Both mothers wore corsages of pink sweetheart roses.

A reception at the Elks Lodge immediately followed the ceremony. The bride's table was centered with a three tiered cake decorated with blue roses and encircled with pink and white carnations. Single tapers flanked the cake.

Hostesses were Mrs. Lloyd Crosby, aunt of the bride; Mrs. Iochiam Valli, aunt of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Steve Newman, a cousin of the bride.

For a wedding trip to Sandusky and Cedar Point, the bride wore a gown of printed dotted swiss which she designed, and the orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet. The couple now resides at Tradewinds Mobile Village, Cutty Sark Drive, Amelia Ohio.

The bride is a graduate of Circleville High School. The bridegroom, a graduate of Northwest High School in McDermott, attended Ohio University. He served with the U.S. Marine Corps for three years, including a tour of Vietnam. He is currently employed by Bankers Life and Casualty Co.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were grandparents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Morgan, of Lucasville; Mr. and Mrs. Iacian Valli and family, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Zuine, and Mrs. Edwin Crabtree.

Unleaded Gasoline Sales Needed

By OWEN ULLMANN

Associated Press Writer

New car owners apparently won't have to worry about finding unleaded gasoline for their 1975 models this fall. But some service stations are worrying about finding enough customers for the new grade.

A nationwide survey by The Associated Press indicates that at least half the stations in most states already carry unleaded gasoline and many more, mostly in rural areas, plan to stock it later this fall.

Virtually all American-made cars will require unleaded fuel.

The only 1975 models which can use leaded gasoline are Chryslers equipped with either of two optional V-8 engines, the 318 cubic inch displacement power plant available in compacts and intermediates and the 360 c.i.d. engine, an option on larger Chrysler Corp. cars.

And while about 80 per cent of the new cars will have antipollution converters, even those autos which do not come equipped with the devices must use unleaded gas.

This is because the Environmental Protection Agency gave the cars a production go-ahead after testing models which used lead-free fuel.

Even if a car is not equipped with a converter, which would be ruined if leaded gas is used, it still must use no-lead, exclusive of Chryslers with the special order 318 and 360 c.i.d. engines. Autos requiring lead-free have special gas tank filler necks which can take only special lead-free fuel nozzles.

In addition, the autos will be marked near the filler cap and on the dashboard as requiring lead-free gas. Federal regulations call for a fine of $10,000 per day for stations which, except in emergencies, put leaded fuel in the new, specially marked autos.

All General Motors cars, about 75 per cent of Ford and Chrysler cars and 30 per cent of American Motors cars will have converters.

Thus, about 95 per cent of the new models will require unleaded fuel. But few of the 8.5 million cars Detroit's auto makers expect to sell in the 1975-model year are on the road. And so far, that has meant slow business at many pumps for unleaded gas.

"All the stations required to carry unleaded gas have stocks of it," says Gerald Kroll, president of the Missouri

Service Station Dealers Association. "Our only problem has been getting customers for it."

The head of the Pennsylvania-Delaware station dealers association says up to 70 per cent of the two states' stations now carry unleaded gasoline. But he adds, "It's the slowest-selling."

The North Dakota Auto Club reports one Fargo dealer spent up to $15,000 to provide unleaded fuel at nine area stations. But in a recent 10-day period he sold only 10 gallons of the grade.

Many smaller stations have complained that federal regulations requiring them to sell unleaded gasoline have forced them to replace premium grades with unleaded because the stations only had two pumps and couldn't afford a third.

Although unleaded grades have accounted for less than 5 per cent of retail gasoline sales, the auto companies say half the cars on the road today can use unleaded fuels and the percentage will increase as more 1975 models hit the nation's highways.

282 Recordings Processed

Hazel M. Yeatts, Pickaway County Recorder, issued the report of the office's work during the month of September. During that time a total of 282 recordings were processed.

Of those recordings, 122 were deeds, 80 were real estate mortgages involving $2,139,238.42 and 80 were miscellaneous recordings.

Mrs. Yeatts' staff also cancelled 41 real estate mortgages involving money in the amount of $821,858.99 and filed and processed 170 financing statements.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

For The Fourth Time

DEAR ABBY: I am a fairly intelligent, nice-looking woman of 33, who is getting married for the fourth time. Before you jump to the conclusion that I am fickle or a poor judge of character, let me tell you that I am marrying the same man for the fourth time.

We don't have any kids, so that's not why we keep going back to each other. Don't send me to a shrink. I've been to one. We've also seen marriage counselors. They have all told us the same thing. We NEED each other.

We've tried living together (without marriage) and even living with others. It didn't work. We fight a lot, but when we kiss and make up it's better than ever. When he hits me, I hit him back, and believe me, I can take care of myself.

He's not a meal ticket and neither am I. We could both make it on our own.

Abby, have you ever heard from couples who married each other more than once, and learned the secret of making that marriage work?

If so, please let me know. I can't live WITH him and I can't live WITHOUT him. Thanks.

FOURTH TIME AROUND

DEAR ABBY: All right, I'll try. Readers? Is it really more wonderful the second time around-with the same partner, that is?

DEAR ABBY: As far back as I can remember, I've wanted to be a school teacher. Now my dream has come true.

I would like to make a lasting impression on my students. What should I stress that will be truly helpful to sixth graders? I want to inspire them to learn.

Tarleton News

World Wide Communion Day will be observed at the Sunday morning worship service at 9:30 a.m., Oct. 6, at the United Methodist Church.

The MYF met at the Methodist Church social room last Sunday. Newly elected officers are: president, Scott Turvey; secretary, Tammy Reichelderfer; treasurer, Susan Pine; and news reporter, Melanie Whitesed.

The group will meet the second and fourth Sundays of each month, at 6:30 p.m. A halloween party is planned for Oct. 27. Leaders of the MYF are Florence Fogler and Evelyn Turvey.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Reichelderfer attended the OSU-Southern Methodist football game on Saturday. Their tickets were a gift from Mrs. Reichelderfer's sister, Mrs. Charles Hoyt of Columbus, whose husband is on the OSU faculty.

Sunday supper guests of Mrs. Genevieve Hedges were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Radcliff, Troy; Mrs. Adaline Wilson, Miamisburg; Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Pritchard, Ashville; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Brown, Lancaster; and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hunter Route 2, Amanda.

The Boy Scout Fall Camporee will be held at Deer Creek State Park on Oct. 4, 5, and 6. Leaders of the local troop are Ray McJunkin and Dale Fogler.

Betty Whitesed and Ann Stevens were hostesses for the October meeting of the Kings Helpers Class at the Methodist Social room on Saturday evening. The president, Lloyd Spung, opened the meeting with prayer, and the group sang "The Way of the Cross Leads Home" and "He Leadeth Me."

Lucia Spangler announced that anyone having old newspapers, magazines etc., may still drop them off at her house, as the load has not been sent in yet.

The class agreed to give a special donation to the Shaum Boys' home, near Sugargrove, in addition to the monthly sum that is sent to the school.

Lucia Spangler conducted a contest after which refreshments were served to Mabel Cox, Genevieve Hedges, Ruth Hunt, Lucia Spangler, Myrtle Wetherell, Ella Mae Jenkins, Betty and Roy McJunkin, George and Bertha O'Hara and Lloyd and Roanne Spung.

Riverfront Stadium To Be Lighted

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Riverfront Stadium's ring of lights will again illuminate the city's skyline. City officials have decided the energy-saving measure that put the lights out is no longer necessary.

Wallace M. Power, city utilities director, advised Cincinnati City Council Wednesday that he will resume the practice of turning on the lights for six hours nightly.

The city ordered the lights out a year ago. Power said there have been many complaints about darkness in the riverfront area.

Lady DJ Plays Prisoner Platters

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Bonnie Jean Reed was fed up with the hassles of being a singer with a popular group. So she became a disc jockey.

From 1 a.m. to 5 a.m. at a Dayton radio station, she entertains her listeners with "a little bit of jazz, a little bit of rock and a whole lot of soul."

"I wanted to get into something more definite than singing, where I could be dependent only upon myself," said the 22-year-old former singer with the "Chantels."

She was hired by the radio station four months ago and is the city's only female disc jockey, which she considers an asset.

"It feels great," she said. "It makes me stand out even more."

She is also pleased with her fan mail, much of which comes from prisoners at nearby institutions.

"It makes me feel like I'm doing a good job," she said.

Miss Reed settled in Dayton a year ago. She originally had come only for a weekend visit with her father.

"He coaxed me into staying," she said. "We had been separated for quite some time, so we decided to stick around each other for a while."

Looking about for work, she scratched singing off the list.

"When you're with a singing group it becomes a hassle at times," she said. "If someone is late or doesn't show up, you can blow an engagement."

She ended up sorting and logging commercial tapes at a television station.

When the offer came to spin platters at the radio station, she snapped it up. "Broadcasting is my first love," she said, "so off I went."

Her maiden show was anything but a success.

"I opened my mouth, but nothing came out," she recalled.

But she quickly got over her hangups, thanks partly to elocution lessons at a local community college.

"I have more self-confidence now," she said. "Most of the mistakes I made when I first began were from a lack of selfassurance."

Solons Named To Assembly Housing Panel

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Five members of the Ohio House were named Wednesday to serve on a Legislative Service Commission panel to determine if Ohio must complete action on a pending housing bill before the end of the year.

Speaker A.G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, appointed the bill's main sponsor, Rep. Edward Feighan, D-8 Cleveland, along with Reps. Michael Stinziano, D-30 Columbus; John Thompson, D-15 Cleveland; James Luken, D-24 Cincinnati, and Charles E. Fry, R-75 Springfield.

It will be up to Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, and Sen. Anthony O. Calabrese, D-22 Cleveland, to designate senators who will serve on the panel. There were indications the committee will not meet for two weeks.

Rep. Frederick N. Young, R-38 Dayton, designated earlier as chairman of the LSC committee, was reported by his office Wednesday to be away on vacation, not planning to return until Oct. 14.

Gov. John J. Gilligan wants Gray and Lancione to call the lawmakers into session to complete action on a House-passed bill to create a new state housing financing agency. The governor said it is needed to take full advantage of the 1974 Federal Housing and Community Development Act.

Gilligan's request received the backing earlier this week of a 23-member ad hoc committee of industry officials and labor leaders who said the law is needed to alleviate a crisis in the state's building industry.

Gray and Lancione both said they wanted the LSC committee to study the federal statute and the pending bill to determine what must be done to make them "dovetail," and if immediate action is called for.

Black Snake Makes Home In Cruiser

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A four-foot black snake which spent three weeks in the trunk of a police cruiser and a briefer stint in the home of a 10-year-old is destined to return to the wild.

"He's sorta mean," said Adam Chacksfield, son of a suburban Norwood police executive. "He's been sleeping with my king snake but my mom says she doesn't want him around the house."

Adam got the snake with the help of his father from police at nearby Evendale.

Evendale Patrolman Harold Vonderhaar put the snake in his cruiser trunk Sept. 17 after capturing it in a resident's yard. Vonderhaar finally got it out three weeks later with the help of a local exterminator using bug spray.

Before that police tried a variety of "snake removers" including gasoline, tear gas and loud noises.

At one point, thinking the snake might be hungry, police put a caged mouse in the trunk. The mouse escaped. The snake remained.

The cruiser remained in operation with jittery patrolmen at the wheel.

YMCA To Have Gymnastic Pro As Instructor

Bob Sherman, professional gymnastics instructor and assistant manager at the Columbus based American Gymnasts Studio will conduct classes at the Pickaway County YMCA starting Saturday.

According to Y Director Harold Hewitt, the YMCA is fortunate in obtaining Sherman to teach gymnastics in the Circleville area. A few local girls have attended his classes at the Columbus studio.

Sherman, Hewitt said, will conduct beginning, intermediate and advanced classes starting at 1 p.m. and concluding at 6 p.m. For those advanced students interested, Sherman will assist the Y in organizing a competitive girls gymnastics team.

Pre-registration is required at the YMCA and registrations will be accepted until Friday at 5 p.m. or until classes are filled.

For the young girls ages 4 through 7, the Y is offering a new introductory gymnastic program called Beamers and Tumblers. Judy Cook is the instructor for that program, which will be offered on Wednesdays from 5:45 to 6:45.

A Tumbling and Acrobatic program for boys, first grade and older is planned for Fridays from 4 to 5 p.m. and there are a few vacancies in this class.

Girls may also still register for the cheerleading classes which start Saturday at the Y, 9 to 10 a.m. for grades 4, 5 and 6 and 10 to 11 a.m. for grades 7, 8 and 9.

There are also still limited openings in the baton classes.

Villages Receive Gasoline Taxes

Pickaway County villages will receive $12,327 of a total of $9,579,372 distributed in gasoline taxes in the month of September, according to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

Each of the 1,320 townships received $1,200 for a total of $1,584,000 and each of the 88 counties received $35,000 for a total of $3,080,000.

A total of $4,915,372 was allocated to 956 cities and villages on the basis of $1 per motor vehicle registered within their boundaries.

The gasoline excise tax receipts can be used only for street and roadway purposes.

Circleville will receive $8,201; Ashville, $1,373; Commercial Point, $177; Darbyville, $56; Harrisburg, $38; New Holland, $556; Orient, $537; South Bloomfield, $465; Tarlton, $258; and Williamsport, $666.

Sneek-A-Peek

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

All families don't have two children, a ranch style home on a wide grassy lot and an adorable puppy. It might be interesting for readers to find out what different families do.

In the old-fashioned days when the railroad was in its prime and horses still pulled milk wagons, Trina lived in a cozy boxcar in a small town in Wyoming. "Trina's Boxcar" tells what it's like for a young girl who moves all over the country and endures the laughter of schoolmates when she blurts out answers in Spanish.

Another boy who must live in two worlds is Po Threefeathers in "Ride the Crooked Wind." When he must attend an Indian boarding school, boys from other tribes laugh at him because they don't understand his ways. There are many scenes of Indian life on a Paiute reservation and other tribal customs are depicted during a school festival.

A book about family life in the 1920's points up the great changes in behavior among children. "All-of-a-Kind-Family Uptown" tells of city life and its excitement for a large family. When the older girls go to their first boy-girl party, the girls caution each other not to speak to a boy unless he introduces himself first. The enrollment.

Evening Sertoma Club Holds First Meeting Tuesday

Eight guests were present at the first meeting of Circleville's new evening Sertoma Club held at Pickaway Arms Tuesday.

The president of the Circleville Noon Sertoma Club, Larry Lewis, conducted the first meeting for the new evening club. Special guest speaker for the meeting was District Governor Tom McGuire of Columbus, who spoke on the meaning of Sertoma. Also speaking was Dan Davis, who discussed the awards available to members during their first year in the club. Ed Bohenko spoke on the club's Freedom Program.

Special guests at the meeting were: Wayne Lash, Joe Steinhauer, Tom Wolf, Jack Goode, Rick Norris, Ken Waidelich, Don Reams, and Paul Winterbotham, president of the Washington Court House Club.

The next meeting of the new evening Sertoma Club will be 7 p.m. Tuesday at Pickaway Arms. The guest speaker is scheduled to be Al Wing of Columbus, a member of the Clubs International Board of Directors.

tainment consists of singing around the piano and there is iced tea and cake for refreshments.

The gypsy life of the poor in Paris is presented sympathetically in "The Family Under the Bridge." When a widow leaves her three children under the bridge while she works they are befriended by a tramp. Daily, the children face the perils of living outdoors and attack by roving bands of dogs.

Fran Ellen, the 4th grader in "The Bear's House" also faces severe handicaps. She lives in a run down apartment house with no father and a mother who has ceased caring whether Fran Ellen is clean or well fed. It is her understanding teacher who works the hardest to encourage new habits and develop her sense of worth.

"New in the City" gives a fresh look at the urban situation through the eyes of a new arrival from the farm. Joey finds it strange that he has to carry an apartment key around his neck. And he wonders why the playground at school has a big iron fence around it.

Lois Lenski is widely known for her regional stories. "Blue Ridge Billy" tells of farm life in the Blue Ridge Mountains before the coming of the automobile. Laundry is done outdoors in wash buckets and grandma has a medicine pot simmering by the fire filled with an herb broth. There are touches of dialect and many illustrations which give a clear picture of these simple folk. "Where the Lilies Bloom" also tells of Appalachian life. It is a poignant story of a young girl on the threshold of womanhood trying to hold her parentless family together.

When it's time for a change from old reading habits, try one of these. Or do try asking the librarian for help.

Memphis Crushes Jacksonville, 47-19

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
J.J. Jennings of the Memphis Southmen broke the World Football League's 1,000-yard rushing barrier, but running mate Willie Spencer shattered the Jacksonville Sharks with five touchdowns.

Memphis, winning its ninth straight game, crushed the visiting Sharks 47-19 Wednesday night with its two explosive rookies.

Elsewhere, Shreveport beat Detroit 14-11, Southern California edged Portland 26-22, Florida defeated Philadelphia 30-7 and the Hawaiians downed Birmingham 14-8. In the nationally televised WFL game tonight, Charlotte plays at Chicago.

"It was just a matter of time," said Jennings, who became the WFL's first 1,000-yard runner, gaining 80 yards in 18 carries to boost his season total to 1,036.

Spencer ran 21 times for 141 yards, scoring on four short bursts — three in the first half — and a 19-yard fourth-quarter blast.

The Memphis defense had a big hero, too. A pair of Spencer's first half touchdowns were set up by tackle William Stevenson's two fumble recoveries. His key interception also stopped a Sharks' drive.

Steamer 14, Wheels 11
A hometown crowd of 22,012 watched Shreveport snap a five-game losing streak — started when the franchise was known as the Houston Texans — with its first victory since arriving in Louisiana.

Reserve quarterback David Mays fired a decisive eighty-yard touchdown pass to Willie Frazier late in the fourth quarter, capping an 11-play, 78-yard drive for the winning points.

Blazers 30, Bell 17
The Blazers, with their pay checks two weeks overdue, traveled to Philadelphia and made the Bell pay for the financial woes.

Blazer Tommy Reamon scored touchdowns on a four-yard run and a 10-yard pass from Bob Davis, who also threw to Matt Maslowski for another Florida touchdown.

Sun 26, Storm 22
With 1:56 left in the game, quarterback Tony Adams hit receiver Keith Denson on a 36-yard scoring pass for the Suns' victory.

The late scoring pass overshadowed a three-touchdown performance by Portland's Rufus Ferguson, who tallied on runs of six, three and five yards in the first half for the Storm.

Hawaiians 14, Americans 8
Randy Johnson, released last month by the New York Giants of the National Football League, guided the Hawaiians on 95-and 39-yard touchdown marches to avenge a 39-0 setback to the Americans earlier this season.

Johnson, in his first start for the Hawaiians, connected with Tim Boyer on a 10-yard scoring pass. Earnie Davis collected the decisive TD in the third period from one yard out.

Braves Lambast Fading Reds, 13-0

ATLANTA (AP) — Hank Aaron, baseball's all-time home run king, has the option of retiring in style, after belting another one on his final at-bat of the 1974 season.

There are, however, strong indications from the 40-year-old slugger that he is seriously considering playing another season in another uniform, because he said Wednesday, "I am sure it is my last day in a Brave uniform."

"I'm hoping that's not my last home run," Aaron said after smashing the 733rd of his illustrious 21-year career off rookie reliever Rawly Eastwick in Atlanta's 13-0 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. "I might hit my last one against Cleveland or in Chicago or somewhere."

Aaron thus ended the year just as he began, by homering. It was in Cincinnati last April 4 that Aaron cracked No. 714 to tie Babe Ruth's record on his first cut of the season. Wednesday's blast, his 20th this year, came on his final trip in the seventh inning on a 1-0 inside fastball that he just barely managed to get over the 330-foot marker down the left field line.

"I planned it that way," Aaron said, joking with a cluster of newsmen gathered around his locker after the game. "No," he added, in case some took him seriously, "it just happened to happen."

It was on his first swing in Atlanta Stadium this year that he drilled a pitch from Al Downing of the Los Angeles Dodgers over the fence to move ahead of Ruth last April 8.

Aaron said he won't decide for another 10 days or so whether he will retire or consider playing somewhere else.

"I'm planning to think over a lot of things," he said. "No one else is going to do the thinking for me."

He said any future records he might add to the 18 major league and 27 National League marks he already holds "doesn't enter into it at all."

Then, talking of his 21-year association with the Braves, including the last nine in Atlanta, Aaron said, "I enjoyed playing here and I'm going to miss it tremendously. You get to a point where you get to be 40 years old and the youth movement catches you. 'I'm sure it's going to be my last game in Atlanta. I can't see where I could probably come back another year. I don't have a contract. That's all."

Asked where he'd like to play if he chose not to retire, Aaron said, "I can't say where I'd like to play. I'm still the property of the Atlanta Braves until Dec. 9, I think. Until then, I can't say whether I'll play or not."

"The Braves haven't talked to me about playing next year. They have a youth movement under way and I don't want to stand in their way. On the other hand, I do not want them to stand in mine."

Browns Need More Pride Skorich Says

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Browns Coach Nick Skorich could use the assistance of Sigmund Freud this week.

Skorich has expressed his disappointment with the team's inability to build any pride in itself or to become physically enough to win football games.

Skorich is not a head busting coach so what he intends to do is talk a lot.

"I wasn't happy with the attitude of either the offensive or the defensive units," said Skorich of the debacle the Browns were involved in Sunday.

The St. Louis Cardinals remained undefeated by beating the Browns 29-7. Cleveland is now 1-2 and Skorich is worried about losing the team's reputation for being the National Football League team to have only one losing season.

Skorich is looking for leaders on the club to help build up that pride and he plans to have some private meetings with several individuals during the week in an attempt to get them to exert themselves.

"We've got some fine leaders on this club, but they didn't come to the fore," Skorich said.

On a team basis Skorich says there is no need to raise his voice.

"All I have to do is show them the films of last week's game and that will be enough to let them know what they're up against," he said.

CHS Faces Strong Hurricane

The Circleville Tigers have the monumental task of playing "the best ball club we've encountered so far," according to Coach Larry Cook, especially when that club boasts the fastest and most prolific offense in the South Central Ohio League.

Circleville will be trying to rebound back into the win column after a heartbreaking 6-0 loss at Greenfield, a game the Tigers should not have dropped.

"We were mentally unprepared for the game," Coach Cook said, noting that the attitude was primarily evident with his offensive team.

"But we'll be ready Friday," he stressed.

Circleville's opponent for the 1974 Homecoming Game is Wilmington, a co-leader for the SCOL title after the first week.

The Hurricane, paced by senior running back Jackie Watson, has scored 114 points in running its record to 3-1 for the year, including last week's 37-8 drubbing of Unioto. The win entrenched them in a first place tie with Washington C.H. and Greenfield for the top spot in the league.

Watson has rambled for 468 yards in 61 carries in the four games and gets excellent support from the rest of the Hurricane backfield.

Bob Scott has run for 225 yards in 32 carries and fullback Russ Crosthwaite has crashed for 143 yards.

The attack is directed by Duane Early, who has hit nine of 21 passes for 143 yards.

Wilmington has rolled up a total of 858 yards rushing and 133 passing on the year, while holding opponents to 49 points, 596 yards rushing, and 185 passing.

Merrill (23), Jerry Large (32), and Randy Happeney (50). In the second row are Brian Fath (19), Rusty Holbrook (89), Mearle Logan (45), Tom McGuire (80), Brad Allison (16), Brian Price (60), and Bill Mogan (37).

Prior to the Hillsboro game, the Hurricane blanked Xenia 12-0 and Clinton-Massie 41-0 before being trounced by Franklin 41-24.

Wilmington lacks a consistent offense, however, relying on razzle-dazzle type plays and break-aways.

CHS 9th Graders Register 3rd Shutout; Win 30-0

With a rough Circleville 9th grade defense gaining its 3rd shutout in as many games, the tiny Tigers rolled to a 30-0 win over Mt. Sterling Madison Plains Wednesday night.

Coaches Ron Malone and Tom Cole praised the defense for preserving the third Tiger win. Madison Plains was reputed to have a big, strong team that operated with a strong passing attack.

But they couldn't move against the 9th graders.

Todd Mancini paced the defensive effort with eight tackles and a fumble recovery; Marc Albright had nine tackles; and Scott Willoughby had seven.

Eric Berlin, Tim Augustine, Dave Holbrook, and Ben Brian combined for 20 tackles.

The Tigers scored first on a nine-yard Mike Brudzinski to Marc Albright pass. Greg Berrigan made it 8-0 behind the blocking of Miltstead and Albright.

When the Tigers regained possession, Berrigan raced 77 yards for a TD behind the superb blocking of Mancini and Holbrook. He powered over right tackle for the two-point conversion and a 16-0 CHS halftime lead.

In the second half, Rodney Cook scored up the middle behind good blocking and Berrigan ripped off an eight-yard touchdown run off left tackle. Dave Marshall added the extra points.

CHS coaches credited the Tigers' 216 yards rushing and nine yards passing to excellent blocking.

Circleville will face its toughest test of the year Saturday, Oct. 12, in a 10 a.m. game with Jones Junior High School, Upper Arlington.

Kuntz Pigeons Win Club Races

The Circleville Pigeon Club held its 150 and 200 mile races Sept. 29 from Lexington and Corbin, Ky.

Homer Kuntz was the winner of the 150 mile event with a speed of 946.7058 yards per minute. He also took second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth places and the bird derby.

Kuntz won the 200 mile event with a speed of 1041.8265 yards per minute and the loft derby.

Stan Crosby took second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth places and the bird derby.

LE Crushes Aces In Golf Match

The Logan Elm golf team upped its season mark to 4-3 and Mid-State League total to 2-3 with a 189-206 win over Amanda-Clearcreek Wednesday night.

Steve Marshall paced the Braves with a 40.

LE will play in the sectional golf tournament Friday at Marysville Country Club.

CHS Golfers Rip McClain

The Circleville golf team coasted to a 170-187 win over Greenfield Wednesday night in preparation for the Central District Sectional Golf Tournament Friday.

The sectionals, at Marysville Country Club, will feature the Tigers going against Grandview, Mt. Gilead, and Hartley. CHS has a 9 a.m. tee-off time.

Circleville will be represented at the tournament by Jeff Spires, Jeff Bohenko, Mark McFadden, Jim England, and Keith Sanders.

Circleville played consistent golf on the Buckeye Hills Golf Course near Greenfield Wednesday night under cold and windy conditions.

Spires led the team with a 41 that included two pars and a birdie.

McFadden and Mike Currie shot 42s, each with four pars, and Sanders and Bohenko carded 45s, each with two pars.

Hamilton paced McClain with a 41.

Pirates Clinch NL East Title

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

"I really think the Lord had something to do with this ballgame," said Pittsburgh catcher Manny Sanguillen. "I just thank God we were able to do it."

The Lord may have helped but Chicago catcher Steve Swisher didn't hurt either as the Pirates clinched the National League East Division championship Wednesday night with a wild 5-4, 10-inning victory over the Cubs.

Chicago had the game won with two out and a man on third in the bottom of the ninth. Cubs' right-hander Rick Reuschel struck out pinch hitter Bob Robertson for what would have been the final out but Swisher let the pitch get away from him for a passed ball and Sanguillen raced home from third to send the game into overtime.

One inning later Sanguillen drove in the winning run with a bases-loaded infield single and the Bucs were on their way to the National League playoffs. They wind up 1 1/2 games ahead of the runnerup St. Louis Cardinals who were rained out at Montreal. That game will not be made up.

The Pirates start the best-of-five NL playoffs Saturday afternoon against Los Angeles in Pittsburgh.

Elsewhere, Los Angeles edged Houston 5-4 in 10 innings; Atlanta bombed Cincinnati 13-0; Philadelphia shaded New York 3-2 in 10 innings and San Diego dumped San Francisco 9-5.

Chicago unloaded on Pirate starter Jim Rooker for four runs in the first and the Bucs spent the rest of the night playing catch-up.

Robertson, who celebrated his 28th birthday Wednesday by turning in the game's big play — the clutch ninth-inning strikeout — drenched Manager Danny Murtaugh, a non-drinker, with a gallon of milk.

Braves 13, Reds 0

Hank Aaron closed out his eventful season with his 20th homer, No. 733 lifetime, but refused to say it was his last game. He said earlier in the season this would be his last campaign, but has been having second thoughts lately.

Phil Niekro hurled a four-hitter for Atlanta to become the National League's second 20-game winner.

Dodgers 5, Astros 4, 10 innings

John Hale singled and Lee Lacy doubled him home in the 10th to give reliever Charlie Hough, 9-4, the win.

Phillies 3, Mets 2, 10 innings

Bill Robinson won it for Philadelphia with a sacrifice fly off starter and loser Jon Matlack.

Padres 9, Giants 5

San Diego scored four times in the ninth inning to win it.

Griffin Draws Near Rushing Record

CHICAGO (AP) — Top-ranked Ohio State's Oct. 19 Big Ten clash with struggling Indiana could mark a big football day for Archie Griffin, the unstoppable Buckeye bullet.

Griffin, current national and Big Ten rushing leader, needs only three more 100-yard games to match the NCAA record of 17 straight held by Oklahoma's Steve Owens.

The 182-pound junior last Saturday ripped 156 yards on 24 carries in Ohio State's 28-9 triumph over Southern Methodist to give him a three-game average of 141.0 and his 14th successive 100-yard contest since last year's opener against Minnesota.

Air force Academy trainer Jim Conboy has seen every Falcon football game since the start of varsity competition at the school in 1956.

Computer Grid Ratings Listed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Middletown Fenwick has a much better chance of defending its Ohio high school football playoff title than do Youngstown Mooney and Cleveland Benedictine.

The Ohio High School Athletic Association weekly computerized ratings, released for the first time Wednesday, showed the Middletown power as one of the Class A leaders.

Fenwick compiled 25.50 points to lead Region 12. The other Class A leaders were Windham 26.00 in Region 9, Montpelier 18.50 in Region 10 and Johnstown Northridge 14.00 in Region 11.

Fenwick grabbed the 1973 Class A playoff crown by thumping Montpelier 27-7 in the title game. The Falcons were 11-1 last year and are 3-0-1 in 1974.

Youngstown Mooney, the 1973 Class AAA playoff champion, was tied for sixth in its own region and Cleveland Benedictine, the winner in Class AA, was deadlocked for 4th in its region.

The Class AAA regional leaders were Warren Western Reserve, Columbus Whitehall, New Philadelphia and Cincinnati Elder.

Out front in Class AA were Wellington, Shelby, Jackson and Cincinnati Wyoming.

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Some unexpected moves will call for alertness in all areas. Don't be overly suspicious where it's not warranted, however.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Avoid a tendency toward pessimism. Why assume that things will not work out? Couple your lively imagination with your innate practicality, and you can get around almost any situation.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Weigh proposed undertakings and their possible outcomes before taking action. You may want to revise plans a bit.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Lunar influences good! Without too much trouble, you should be able to breeze through the day with fine results. Aids: Good timing in your approach and practical execution of plans.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): You may not have as much leeway in carrying out your activities as you hope for, but all sincere effort will bring reward, nevertheless.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): A good period for taking constructive action on a project which you may have had in mind for some time. With good planning, you should be able to put it over now.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): You may feel somewhat stymied in your plans, but skies are clearing for faster advancement toward desired goals. Have patience!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Quiet steps may be the most important ones now, but they must be steady, knowing ones, directed only toward most worthwhile objectives. Stress your innate foresight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): A day in which to tie up loose ends and make any required improvements. Don't complicate situations by acting hastily or being abrupt with others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): There are tendencies now toward excitement, undue reaction in disappointment, altering plans needlessly. Be alert to your own moods and curb the harmful ones.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A good day! Get out your bag of tricks and launch your pet projects—especially those having to do with creative interests and family affairs.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Much activity indicated, and excellent stellar influences favor any number of good endeavors—including new undertakings you may be planning to launch.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a delightful personality, great integrity and a practicality that helps you put your original and imaginative ideas over the top. You can add the touch that makes an ordinary job sparkle, put lively enthusiasm into a dull or simple undertaking. You are extremely versatile but, in using your many talents, you concentrate on the more sound and basic aspects of an opus than on its showier side. Thus, in the theater, you would be a better producer than actor; in writing, historical records would have more meaning than a flashy novel. But you do love the arts and should you decide to take one up either vocationally or avocationally, music and sculpture would be your best bets. Birthdate of: Rutherford B. State Funding Of Schools Eyed COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The complexities of various approaches to state funding of public schools has slowed the work of a temporary legislative committee charged with preparing recommendations for the General Assembly next year.

The Education Review Committee heard several proposals for drastic changes in the present school foundation formula during a plodding all-day meeting Wednesday.

But discussion of an "equal yield" approach, favored by many educators, broke off almost before it began when some committee members disagreed with a research team's approach to property reappraisal.

The equal yield concept is meant to equalize the revenue raising ability of school districts by guaranteeing a minimum level of state dollars for each mill of locally determined tax rate.

The present deductible millage formula works on a sliding scale with state money going to schools based on the amount of local funding from property taxes.

The formula is supposed to give higher amounts of state aid to poor districts but a consensus of educators agrees the program is not working. This is evidenced by the fact that almost none of Ohio's 820 school districts is operating under the basic formula.

Consultants from the Syracuse University Research Corp. had been hired to approach the equal yield formula, assuming reappraisal of all taxable property in school districts. In fact, only 18 of Ohio's 88 counties have completed reappraisal.

The researchers had been given tentative approval at the committee's last meeting to study the possibility of reappraising taxable property in school districts by classification—residential, commercial, industrial and agricultural.

At Wednesday's meeting, however, the committee decided the research team should also study state aid to schools based on the actual current observed value of property in school districts.

And that is how the meeting ended late in the afternoon, with the consultants returning to their computer and the legislators resigned to starting again at their next meeting after the Nov. 5 election.

The senate-house committee, chaired by Sen. Clara Weisenborn, R-5 Dayton, heard earlier from John R. Meckstroth, president of the state Board of Education, and Rep. John E. Johnson, D-68 Orrville.

Meckstroth said local districts should receive equal amount of state funding for every mill of local tax money voted.

Johnson plumped for a bill he introduced last year calling for a common tax rate of 25 mills levied for education on real and personal tangible property in every school district in the state.

"The method of supporting education in Ohio places too much reliance on the real property tax and too much of a tax burden on the real property owner," he said. "The past practice of coupling state money to an unequally concentrated real property tax base has caused many school districts to ask their home owners to shoulder an ever increasing tax burden."

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fairley and son Tim of Lancaster were Sunday dinner guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hartsough. Evening visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hutchins of near Logan.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny DeLong and son Brian have moved to their new home on Route 56 south.

The annual harvest supper was well attended on Saturday evening at Laurel Hills United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Raymond Welch who has been a patient in Berger Hospital has returned to his home at Route 1.

Xenia Studies Lessons Of Tornado Disaster

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Bob Stewart sat at the head table and watched slides of the tornado that destroyed 40 per cent of his city exactly six months ago.

He listened as a recorder played a tape which had been left running as the tornado approached the city. The roar of the wind grew louder and louder until it sounded like a train. Then Stewart heard a roof rip off a building and then silence as the power which ran the recorder suddenly went dead.

"If that had been any louder, I might have run out of the room," Stewart said later.

Stewart is city manager of the city which gained prominence when the tornado struck April 3.

"They called it the day of the hundred tornadoes," Stewart said. "I'm not sure why Xenia came out with the most national exposure. There were other places hit hard by tornadoes that day."

"It must have been the magnitude of the disaster."

The tornado killed 30 persons and destroyed more than 1,400 homes in the community.

Stewart, here Wednesday to speak at a meeting of the Ohio Environmental Health Association's Southwest District, said Xenia had advanced warning of the tornado.

"Many people have asked me 'why didn't you run right for cover?'" Stewart said.

"I remember we had plenty of warning and as the tornado approached, there was a crowd of people watching it. Even my family was out in the street."

The problems that the tornado brought showed basic flaws in traditional disaster planning, he said.

"I had a beautiful book with a disaster plan in it," Stewart said.

"But who could find it when my office was in a shambles. And how could I carry a book underneath my arm when I went out in the street."

"After the tornado, we had people coming up to us with hammers and we had people coming up to us with bulldozers. We had to listen to everyone, because we didn't know who was who," he said.

The city was also inundated by well-meaning people offering things that the city really didn't need, he added.

"We still have warehouses full of clothing that were donated after the tornado," Stewart said. "And people are always coming and asking us 'What can we fix?'"

"Everything that was broken has been torn down and is at the bottom of a quarry near the town. What we need now is to upgrade the sewers and schools and build more houses so Xenia can once again support industry."

"Disposing of the more than million cubic yards of tornado debris is one of the problems Stewart has solved."

"The Army Corps of Engineers first thought it could be burned, but if we followed through on that, we would be burning four years from now," Stewart said.

"What we've done is put some in a nearby quarry and some has been sold to farmers for fill."

Grid Forecaster Predicts Victory For Cardinals

By BEN THOMAS
AP Sports Writer

Aw, c'mon now! This can't be correct. It must be a misprint in the National Football League standings! St. Louis and New England leading their respective divisions, both with 3-0 records? Well, football fans, it IS true—not a misprint.

And what's more, the Cardinals are very likely to still be first in the National Conference East and the Patriots No. 1 in the American Conference East after the fourth weekend of NFL action.

Of course the fact that the Cards and Pats are leading hasn't helped the old Pro Pigskin Picker's average. Last week, however, the picks climbed to 9-4 — most respectable showing so far this season. Over-all, it's now

VOLUNTARY INSPECTION—Members of the Ohio State Highway Patrol Vehicle Inspection Team, one of 27 units operating in the state, paid its monthly visit to Circleville Wednesday. Signal lights, headlights, brake lights, exhaust systems, horns and windshield wipers of the vehicles are inspected and registrations and licenses of drivers are verified. Vehicles passing the voluntary inspections are awarded window stickers. Drivers of vehicles not meeting the standards are given warnings. The inspections are voluntary, for the most part, although OSP personnel may order cars into the inspection area.

Watergate Trial Moves Slowly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal prosecutors have linked one new name and may add others to the conspiracy case that has brought five Nixon loyalists to trial on Watergate-related criminal charges.

The claim of "newly discovered evidence" was made to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, who was engaged for the third straight day today in the painstaking procedure of trying to select an unbiased jury for the months of trial to come.

The five defendants, John D. Ehrlichman, H.R. Haldeman, John N. Mitchell, Kenneth W. Parkinson and Robert C. Mardian, appeared to take the snail's pace in stride.

With the jury selection process not half completed, it appeared that the first testimony in the trial will not come until the middle of next week at the earliest.

But the forces that will shape the trial continued to converge, nonetheless.

Richard M. Nixon's lawyers were expected to ask Sirica to excuse the former president from testifying at the trial on grounds that his health will not permit it.

And Ehrlichman posed a new problem for the judge: a claim that trial for conspiracy and obstruction of justice will place him in double jeopardy since Ehrlichman already stands convicted in the plumbers case.

The prosecutors' memorandum said the new evidence made it necessary to add one co-conspirator to the list drawn up by the Watergate grand jury. It did not name the person.

But a source close to the case confirmed the man is Richard A. Moore, the former special counsel to Nixon, who testified at the Senate Watergate hearings that he urged John W. Dean III to tell the cover-up story to the president.

Moore, who had been a holdover in the Ford administration, resigned Wednesday. The prosecutor's office had included Moore on its list of 44 prospective witnesses, largely because he was involved in some of the taped conversations that will be introduced into evidence.

At the time of his Senate appearance in July a year ago, the white-haired Moore was represented by Herbert J. Miller, retained by Nixon after his resignation.

The addition brought the number of indicted co-conspirators to 20, according to sources. The only name that has surfaced officially is Nixon's.

The prosecutors indicated the list may be extended further, saying:

"The government may prove at trial that individuals other than those named as defendants or identified as co-conspirators by the grand jury were in fact members of the conspiracy charged in the indictment."

By the end of Wednesday's court day, Sirica had finished preliminary questioning of 315 prospective jurors, in public and private, and had excused 171 who said they could not be sequestered for the 3 to 4 months the trial might take.

The remaining 144 were to undergo more thorough, private questioning in the coming days. If a sufficient number survive questioning for possible bias, lawyers will have a chance to eliminate a specified number until 12 jurors and 6 alternates are seated.

Crop Loss Relief Set By Government

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new Federal program may offer some relief for Ohio farmers whose crops have been extensively damaged by drought, wet weather and premature killing frosts this season.

The program, administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, will be available on an appraisal basis, based on the amount of loss, according to Cecil Smith, agency spokesman.

To date, the agency has received nearly 2,000 appraisal requests, and expects to make payments on 2,500 of them, Smith said. Appraisals will be made on the basis of potential yield versus actual yield, but they won't completely make up losses, he added.

Corn, soybean and tomato farmers have been especially hard hit by bad weather all season. Frosts last week and Tuesday night effectively ended the growing season, C. William Swank, Ohio Farm Bureau Federation executive vice president said.

Swank said farmers had hoped for another two to three weeks in the growing season, but will have to harvest their crops almost immediately now.

The National Weather Service reported light snow early Wednesday in the Cleveland and Youngstown areas and subfreezing temperatures in Toledo, Findlay and Columbus.

Claim Solon Took Favors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Syndicated columnist Jack Anderson has charged that U.S. Sen. Marlow Cook, R-Ky., has championed the interests of Ashland Oil Inc., while accepting favors from the company.

Anderson, in a column published nationally Thursday, wrote that the major favor Cook received has been the use of an Ashland airplane "as a commuter plane to wing back and forth between Washington and his Kentucky constituency."

Cook, seeking his second term in the Nov. election, said he "may have" taken 20 to 25 free flights on an Ashland plane.

In response to the charge Cook added "As long as I have served in the United States Senate, no personal relationship and certainly no consideration of personal advantage or gain has ever been allowed to influence the votes I have cast or the actions I have taken in representing the interests of every Kentucky citizen."

Incentives For Farmers Said Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey and Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz agree that farmers need financial incentives to boost production, but as usual each speaks a different language.

Butz told a National Town Meeting here Wednesday that free markets, full production and unfettered exports are the answers. Humphrey, D-Minn., said farmers need financial backstops, including higher price supports and a national food reserve held in part by the government.

Moreover, Humphrey said he thought Butz' predictions that food prices would go up 8 to 10 per cent next year were wrong. "I think it will be substantially larger," he said.

As he has many times, Butz insisted grain reserves should be held by farmers and the private trade and not by the federal government.

Besides urging adoption of his grain reserve plan — two-thirds held by the private trade and one-third by the government—Humphrey said federal officials should monitor farm exports more closely.

The idea, he said, is to prevent huge sales such as the 1972 Russian grain deal from catching everyone unaware again. But Humphrey said he was not in favor of export controls.

"If we don't have the brains and intelligence in this country to protect ourselves with an adequate supply of food and, hopefully, of energy, we're going to be in unbelievable economic trouble," Humphrey said.

George Papadopoulos, the leader of the 1967 military coup, abolished the monarchy in July 1973 and declared Greece a republic. He also held a referendum to ratify his action, and the vote, according to the government, was 3,870,124 in favor to 1,064,320 opposed, with about 920,000 not voting.

The military dictatorship collapsed under the weight of last summer's Cyprus crisis. After Caramanlis took over on July 23, he promised elections, declared a general amnesty for political prisoners and restored Greek citizenship to those who had lost it because of their opposition to the dictatorship.

In a preliminary to elections, the government on Sept. 23 lifted the ban on the Greek Communist party that had been in effect since 1936. It also announced that civilians and technicians who worked for the military government could be candidates for parliament.
